

Privacy Policy and Cookies

Blocking or disabling Cookies may result in the improper functioning of our website. If your browser accepts Cookies, it implies consent to the use of cookies by our website.

What are cookies?

Cookies are created by the websites you visit and contain information about their settings, including ads, graphics, and designs placed on a particular page. They are also used for statistical, advertising, and functional purposes. They allow us to tailor the website to your needs. Everyone can accept or disable cookies in their browser, which means that information will not be collected, and we will not be able to tailor the website to your requirements.

By using the services of Kazimierzak Clinic sp. z o.o., you entrust us with your data. This Privacy Policy serves as guidance on what data we collect, for what purpose, and how we use it. This information is crucial, so we encourage you to thoroughly review this document.

You can use the Kazimierzak Clinic sp. z o.o website in various ways, such as contacting us by filling out the contact form on the contact subpage.

Thanks to the information obtained from you (e.g., when filling out the contact form), we improve our services, ensuring their high quality.

We want users using our services to have a clear understanding of how we use this information and how they can protect their privacy.

By using the Kazimierzak Clinic sp. z o.o website and filling out any forms on it, you consent to the processing of your personal data for marketing purposes in accordance with the Act of August 29, 1997, on the Protection of Personal Data (Journal of Laws No. 133, item 883).

The personal data provided by you are used exclusively for communication with you, improving the functioning of the website, and other activities related to the company's operations.

You can browse our website without the need to provide your personal data. If you have provided us with your data, you have the right to access their content and the ability to correct, update, and supplement them at any time. You can also request the cessation of personal data processing at any time. To do this, simply send an email to the address: registration@kazimierczakclinic.pl, in which you specify that you request the removal of your personal data from our database.

Our website also uses cookies. These are computer data stored on the user's device and intended for the proper use of our website. You can learn more about cookies here.

We use cookies to create statistics that allow us to understand user behavior on our website and better tailor its content to their needs. Based on the data collected from cookies, we also determine the profiles of our users to display them with appropriately targeted information in advertising networks such as Google. You can learn more about user preferences collected by the Google advertising network here.

If you do not want to use cookies, you can change your browser settings. However, please note that if you do not agree to the use of these cookies, our website may not function properly. You can manage cookie settings through the appropriate configuration of your browser. Information on how to do this can be found on the website of your browser's manufacturer.